Address to a Haggis

*Fair fa' your honest, sonsie face,
Great chieftain o the puddin'-race!
Aboon them a' ye tak your place,
Painch, tripe, or thairm:
Weel are ye worthy o' a grace
As lang's my arm.*

*The groaning trencher there ye fill,
Your hurdies like a distant hill,
Your pin mae help to mend a mill
In time o need,
While thro your pores the dems distil
Like amber bead.*

*His knife see rustic labour dight,
An cut you up mi ready slight,
Trenching your gushing entrails bright,
Like onie ditch;
And then, O what a glorious sight,
Warm-reekin, rich!*

*Then, horn for horn, they stretch an strive:
Deil tak the hindmost, on they drive,
Till a' their weel-small d kytes belyve
Are bent like drums;
The auld Guidman, maist like to rive,
'Bethankit' hums.*

*Is there that omre his French ragout,
Or olio that mae stam a sow,
Or fricassee mae mak her spew
Wi perfect scunner,
Looks down wi sneering, scornfu view
On sic a dinner?*

*Poor devil! see him omre his trash,
As feckless as a wither'd rash,
His spindle shank a guid whip-lash,
His nieve a nit;
Thro bloody flood or field to dash,
O how unfit!*

*But mark the Rustic, haggis-fed,
The trembling earth resounds his tread,
Clap in his matie nieve a blade,
He'll make it whistle;
An legs an arms, an heads will sned,
Like taps o thrissle.*

*Ye Pom'rs, wha mak mankind your care,
And dish them out their bill o fare,
Auld Scotland wants nae skinking ware
That jaups in luggies:
But, if ye wish her gratefu prayer,
Gie her a Haggis*
